Dear Members and Friends,

The German-Thai Chamber of Commerce (GTCC) and Respondek & Fan cordially invite you to:

GTCC BREAKFAST TALK “Pitfalls in International Contracts – And How to Avoid Them”

Date: Friday, 27 January 2017

Time: 8.00-9.30 a.m.

Venue: JW Marriott Bangkok Hotel, 2nd Fl., Manhattan Studio (map)

Attendees of the breakfast seminar will learn to identify (costly) typical risk areas in international contracts and how to avoid them. The seminar will examine practical case examples from Respondek & Fan’s daily commercial practice, focusing on specific contract clauses.

Participants will learn how to maximize contract potential and minimize risks from poor contract drafting.

Commonly asked questions answered at this breakfast briefing include:

- Why can poorly drafted choice of law clauses lead to unexpected consequences for both parties?
- In which respect do geographical areas in the definitions of your contract require special attention?
- When can you use contractual penalties and under what conditions are contractual penalty clauses invalid?
- What essential elements must all contract clauses with financial implications (net sales, minimum sales, share price etc.) contain?

The breakfast briefing will explore how these and other costly drafting mistakes in contracts can be avoided, potentially saving you and your company thousands of Baht.
